

Early Journal Content on JSTOR, Free to Anyone in the World

This article is one of nearly 500,000 scholarly works digitized and made freely available to everyone in the world by JSTOR.

Known as the Early Journal Content, this set of works include research articles, news, letters, and other writings published in more than 200 of the oldest leading academic journals. The works date from the mid-seventeenth to the early twentieth centuries.

We encourage people to read and share the Early Journal Content openly and to tell others that this resource exists. People may post this content online or redistribute in any way for non-commercial purposes.

Read more about Early Journal Content at <http://about.jstor.org/participate-jstor/individuals/early-journal-content>.

JSTOR is a digital library of academic journals, books, and primary source objects. JSTOR helps people discover, use, and build upon a wide range of content through a powerful research and teaching platform, and preserves this content for future generations. JSTOR is part of ITHAKA, a not-for-profit organization that also includes Ithaka S+R and Portico. For more information about JSTOR, please contact support@jstor.org.

was educated in the schools of Henrico county and at the Mechanics' Institute. In 1849 he entered the tobacco business. During the late war he was a member of the Governor's Mounted Guard, and also served in the Naval Department. At the close of the contest he returned to the tobacco business, in which he was engaged until 1888. He succeeded the late William Barrett, and carried on, for many years, a large and remunerative trade. At a later period he was a partner of A. M. Lyon & Co. He was elected to the office of City Treasurer in 1888, and filled it conscientiously and acceptably to the people until the day of his death, March 16th, 1894. Mr. Childrey married, in 1857, Miss Kate T. Lyon.

---

JAMES C. COTTRELL, of Richmond, Va., was born November 4th, 1855, and was the son of Samuel S. and Rebecca Baker Cottrell. Mr. Cottrell married Miss Georgia Little, of Norfolk, and left two children, James L. and Marie A. Cottrell. After reaching manhood he was associated with his father in business. He died in Richmond, February 20th, 1894.

---

CHARLES GORHAM BARNEY, M. D., was the eldest son of Charles Gorham and Avis Macy Barney. He was born June 24th, 1814, in Nantucket, Massachusetts, and was a lineal descendant of John Carver, the first Governor of the Plymouth Colony, 1620. His early life was spent in New York. About the age of eighteen he travelled extensively in England and on the Continent.

After returning to New York he began the study of medicine in that city and graduated at a comparatively early age, and was appointed resident physician to a large hospital on Blackwell's Island. Afterwards he was, in turn, physician to the insane asylum and the small-pox hospital near New York city. Owing to reverses in his father's business, he gave up the active prosecution of his profession and engaged with his father in the old established house of Barney & Sons, Mobile, Ala.

In 1850 he married, in the city of Richmond, Va., Miss Mary Walker, daughter of David and Amanda Walker. They made their home in Mobile, but five years after marriage returned to Richmond, where they resided permanently.

During the war Dr. Barney was an active and faithful member of the Ambulance Committee, and at the time of his death was one of the few surviving members of the organization. He was actively engaged in the insurance business for many years, and was employed in his work up to the very time of his death. For years he was a vestryman in Holy Trinity (Moore Memorial) Protestant Episcopal Church. Dr. Barney died September 15th, 1894.